Bigger? Better? Faster?

(OR PARADISE LOST) Editorial, DCJ

The song goes "if you love the sand dunes and salty air" you'll return to old Cape Cod. Well, you may wish you could return to old Cape Cod but you can't. In a 50 year span, the Cape has changed with even accelerating speed to something so different than it was that only memories can bring it back and only older memories can do so with true fidelity. The sand dunes remain, the salty air still wafts its fragrance but other than the National Seashore areas all else is hidden behind wall-to-wall motels and now rapidly rising tenements for the rich and well-to-do. Pockets of charm remain, it's true, in the older sections of the inner towns but now on Route 6A (which had resisted the impact because of colder saltwater) condos rise as the moors and scrub pine fall back and disappear. Almost nowhere on the Cape is the beach readily accessible. The hoards of tourists are of such volume that each pause to see sandy dunes and salt water could cost you.

Even in sections the National Seashore is no longer possible to drive in, park and see the shore. Instead, you must park, board a shuttle bus and be taken there.

Something free and easy is gone when so many motels and dwellings crowd out the nature that brought the people down in the first place.

We take our surroundings so casually, appreciating its rare beauty but with no great reflection on how fragile is this quality. The vista that is Mattapoisett harbor and village is fast becoming a rarity. It is something so special that it is finer than anything left on Cape Cod.

Our major industry is our summer residents. God Bless them All. These are no transient hoard, they return to us for the most part every year and they come for the beauty and open freedom that we enjoy 365 days of the year.

Soon, we will all have to think very seriously of an impact upon the total quality of life in Mattapoisett. I think it's not at all too soon to start thinking now of what we gain versus what we lose. Do we want to be bigger? Do we want to attract more people in a hurry? Do we want a major shift in our industry? I don't really know if HiTech Industry can be induced to come here but I don't know any finer incentive than our living arrangements. It will be on my mind for a while before I decide. So will old Cape Cod. Edgartown is blessed and protected by a moat that bars easy access. Mattapoisett is only blessed.

and experience the "classic charm" of the 18th Century.

Although her design is more than 200 years old, the Peapod still ranks as one of the finest small boats available for sailing, recreational rowing, and as a yacht tender. Completely hand-laid in fiberglass and liberally trimmed in mahogany and brass, she features a centerboard and kickup rudder allowing easy exploration of our coastal marshlands. She can be car-topped, trailered, or hauled in the back of your pickup. Her fine lines and seaworthy characteristics make her the perfect example of traditional New England craftsmanship.

Popular folk singer Tom Rush will appear on Saturday, August 13, with his Band. Mr. Rush, now living in Hillsboro, New Hampshire, gave a special New Year's Eve concert at Boston Symphony Hall this past year that was aired over PBS. These two special concerts complement the Zeiterion's first summer season of live entertainment. The theatre is now finishing a $1 million restoration project, and will have a Grand Reopening on Saturday and Sunday, July 30 and 31 with The Tommy Dorsey Orchestra. The Zeiterion will also host a SEMPops Concert on August 6; the Kinyon-Campbell Business School Graduation on August 7; Jesus Christ Superstar on August 18, 19 and 20; and the American Ballet Comedie on August 25, 26 and 27.

tive, with vote, to the PAC.

The PAC adopts, develops and/or maintains appropriate staging systems which contain at a minimum all material required by the American College of Surgeons for approval as a Cancer Registry.

They also provide necessary measures for the control of quality data, input, and computer reports. Terms and conditions for continuing participation, appropriate terms consistent with primary goals are established, including an assessment of individual participating hospitals activities.

The PAC provides a level of professional/scientific direction and support necessary to maintain the data management system at a level consistent with the primary goal- to support and enhance the quality of care of Cancer patients.

Tobey Hospital responded to the need to gather, aggregate and publish clinically accurate quality data and information about Cancer patients by joining the other hospitals in a concerted effort to assemble a large, on-going data bank based on patients seen primarily in southeastern Massachusetts. Dr. Davis T. Gallison, Hospital Representative, is pleased with the program and stated, "The quality of care to Cancer patients is greatly enhanced by the ability of the surgeon to have access to the data bank. It is imperative this program continues."
